

CLAIMS

What is claimed is:

5

1 A gaming system, the gaming system comprising:

a central server configured to generate game results using fixed-pools of elements, where each element corresponds to a game play result;

10

a player terminal in operable communication with said central server, configured to send game play requests to said central server and receive game play results from said central server;

15

said player terminal further configured to determine a base game play result and a bonus game play result from a game play result received from said central server, to reverse-map said base game play result into a display such that said display shows game indicia having a value corresponding to said base game play result, and further shows bonus game indicia, different from said base game play 20 display, having a value corresponding to said bonus game play result.